The Aragons Have Game Won Up to Last Half of Ninth, When Lancaster Forges Ahead.

In the snappiest and best game of ball played this season on the local diamond Lancaster defeated the Rock Hill Aragons yesterday afternoon, 4 to 3. The game was full of ginger from start to finish. Rock Hill had the game won up to the last half of the ninth, the score being 3 to 2, when Wingo came to the bat and biffed out a clean single. Ellison followed with a single, scoring Wingo and tying the score. Ferguson was next up and landed on the sphere for another single, advancing Ellison to second. Threatt followed, lining out a fielder's choice, on which Ellison, scored, winning the game. Witt Hough and Ben C. Hough both knocked home runs over the center field fence in the fourth and sixth innings.

The Rock Hill team is a lively bunch and played a good, clean game, the Archie brothers, Threatt and Blair playing star ball. The playing of Motley, Wingo, Ellison and Johnson of Lancaster were features. Ben C. Hough pitched a good game after the first inning.

Manager Stewart and General Manager Madra are doing their best to give Lancaster a high grade of ball this summer and they deserve the patronage of lovers of the sport. It is hoped they can get the Lancaster team in shape to go up against the undefeated Chester Collegians for a series of games. The following is the score:

Diamond Dust

Go to it!

Heads up! Heads up!

Boys, every one of you were there. Shake.

Ellison was certainly the k. k., meaning, of course, kanky kid. Oh, you G!!

Tom Funderburk says he will again next week. Tom is in on the inside when it comes to this "know" thing.

Manager Threatt of the Aragons, has a good, clean team of ball players. No kicking or wrangling. He will not stand for any rough-stuff.

Manager Stewart and the "boys" delivered the package. It was a little late in arriving, but these nothing-innings finishes are the thrillers and spine-wrigglers.

Speaking of Arc lights shining brightly, how about the two Houghs, Witt and Ben? Don't put 'em over the fence too often, boys, we are not quite ready to enlarge the park yet.

Misses Lucile and Alice Alexander are spending their vacation with relatives in Tuskegee, Ala.

Social News

The week has been rather quiet socially, due doubtless to the extremely hot weather of the past few days. The moonlight picnic given Wednesday night at Heath Springs in honor of Misses Rebecca Walker and Maude Holley of Winnsboro was enjoyed by a dozen or more of Lancaster's young men and girls. The party left town early in the evening in automobiles and spent several hours around the spring, where a delicious picnic supper was served. This is always a cool retreat and an ideal place for such a picnic.

Of interest to the friends of Miss Cornelia Elliott and her brother, Mr. Eugene Elliott, will be the following from a Ware Shoals special to The Greenwood Index of yesterday: "Mr. E. Elliott, our esteemed young citizen, who has been on the sick list, is now recovering to the gratification of his many friends. Mr. Elliott has been enjoying a visit from his sister, Miss C. Elliott, of Lancaster, who has helped to nurse him during his sickness. Miss Elliott is a charming young lady who has made a host of friends during her short stay in our midst. During her visit she has been the guest of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Gambell at their hospitable home here. Miss Elliott was entertained very pleasantly by the young people at several very pleasant parties and picnics while here. She left on Tuesday morning for Spartanburg."

STAFF OF STATE
GIVES A DINNER

Banquet to Editor Gonzales, Leaving Soon for Cuba—Grape Juice Ribaldry.

The following is taken from today's Columbia State: The staff of The State and heads of departments of The State Company gave a dinner last night at the Jefferson hotel as a farewell to William E. Gonzales, editor of the paper, before his departure for Havana, whither he goes as American minister to Cuba. A number of gridiron stunts, under the characterization, "grape juice ribaldry," were got off, including a skit in which the roles of Woodrow Wilson, President; William J. Bryan, secretary of state, and William E. Gonzales minister to Cuba, were taken by three of the "local" men—Sam Latimer, Louis Chazal and J. Irby Koon. The sketch was written by John S. Reynolds, telegraph editor. W. W. Ball, managing editor was toastmaster. William Elliott, a former newspaper man and an unofficial member of The State family, made a clever toast to "W. E." and needless to say the opportunity which the programme afforded Capt. Gonzales for a "denial if deemed necessary" was seized by him and, entering heartily into the spirit of the occasion, he made his "denial" emphatic and effervescent. Ambrose E. Gonzales, president of The State company, who upon finding himself down for "some extemporaneous remarks" rose to respond, was handed a thick typewritten manuscript by his secretary, the inference on the part of those present being, of course, that the call had been anticipated and the speech prepared.

Robert E. Gonzales, The State's paragrapher, was not found to hesitate when called upon for some "pertinent paragraphs." They were promptly forthcoming. The final stunt was a "farewell shower," McDavid Horton, city editor, presenting the departing editor with a souvenir from each of the men present. The hits were clever and witty, all, of course, having reference to personal or office affairs, and illustrating the very friendly and in many cases affectionate relations which exist between editor-in-chief and the men on the staff.

As a background to the long table, at which covers were laid for 21, a large United States flag was crossed with the emblem of Cuba. Captain Gonzales being seated just before the intersection of the two. The table was decorated in roses.

The menu was printed in Spanish and on the cover the lettering in blue upon white showing a border of red ingeniously carried out the United States national colors. On the back of the cards, under the words, "We had with us that night," each man wrote his name and at the bottom of the list was printed the word "thirty," which is the newspaper synonym for finis, the end.

Mrs. Hugh Taylor Dead.

Mrs. Elizabeth Taylor, wife of Mr. Hugh Taylor, of the mill village, died after a protracted illness Wednesday night. She was a daughter of Mr. W. H. Adams. One child preceded her to the grave about two weeks ago. She leaves her husband and two small children surviving her. The remains were interred at Union church yesterday at 2 p. m.

TILLMAN CRITICISES BRYAN.

Says Secretary of State Should Quit the Lecture Platform.

Washington Special to Charleston News and Courier, July 17.—Yesterday's New York Herald says:

"Senator Tillman, who confesses that at one time he made $25,000 a year on the lecture platform during vacations of Congress, said he never had neglected his official duties to fill lecture engagements. He regretted Mr. Bryan's devotion to the platform."

"It is a perfectly legitimate way to make money," he said, "but I regret to hear of Mr. Bryan doing it. Just at this time, when there is so much important work before his department, I would prefer to have him stay in Washington. He could better afford to impoverish himself than to appear to neglect his official duties."

"The impression prevails—though I don't know how well founded it is—that Mr. Bryan has made a great deal of money since 1896. He has published two or three books, owns The Commonwealth, which has a wide circulation and has lectured extensively. I love the man so much I hate to see him do anything that will belittle him in the eyes of the people as this certainly will do. While his speaking tours will serve a good purpose in that he always preaches true democracy and patriotism and Christian living, he can never again appear as a Knight errant of democracy."

Man and Wife Try Suicide, But Are Arrested.

New York, July 17.—Maurice Dogherty, 30, and his wife, 28, are in a hospital today technically under arrest charged with attempting to carry out a suicide pact. They had been married a month ago. Dogherty was formerly an attendant in the immigration hospital on Ellis Island and his wife until recently was supervising nurse in the Washington Heights poisoning in a room in a little East Side hotel. They left a note saying: "night in a critical condition from poisoning in a room in a note saying: 'No one but ourselves knows the reason, but it is compelling.'"

There is still some doubt that they will recover.

It was explained, because of the length of the journey and the brief time allotted for inspection at each post.
